Vehicle checks to ensure safety, crime prevention

Widespread checking will prevent robbery, chain-snatching: City Police Commissioner

Mysuru, Dec. 17 (SBD&DM)- While the City Police have intensified strict vehicle checking drives over the past few weeks on almost all the roads, the Department has come under fire for putting the public, especially office-goers, into a lot of inconvenience in the name of vehicle checking.

People have flayed the Police move that is particularly aimed at collecting penalties to fill the coffers rather than ensuring road safety.

Responding to the criticism, City Police Commissioner Ramesh Banoth defended the drive and said that the move is aimed at creating public awareness on traffic rules and regulations and at the same time to prevent crimes.

Addressing a press conference at his office yesterday, the City Top Cop said, it has come to his notice that there has been opposition for intensified vehicle checking drive alleging that motorists are being unnecessarily harassed. "Our intention is to maintain law and order, educate the public and sensitise them on following traffic rules and regulations. Moreover, we want to put an end to thriving crime," he said.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

There is general agreement that the worst of the COVID pandemic is behind us. There are only a few active cases in the country and new infections are few. Life is back on track for people. They have started going to shops and malls and are travelling. Offices and restaurants are working, and motor traffic is back on the roads. The virus seems to have lost its sting and most people are thought to have acquired some level of immunity to withstand infection. This is mainly because of the mass vaccination programme since early 2021. The programme saw over 200 crore doses of vaccines distributed in the country. Over two-thirds of citizens have been fully vaccinated and about three-fourths have received at least one dose, and many have taken a third, booster dose. But experience should tell us that there should not be any complacency. This may be the time to go back to the vaccination programme, including administering a fourth dose, at least for the most vulnerable sections of the population.

In India, there is the need to cover the gaps in the implementation of the vaccination scheme. Just about 68 per cent of the country's eligible population has been fully covered by vaccination, and less than 25 per cent have availed of the booster dose. Only 40 per cent of senior citizens have gone in for the booster dose. This does not amount to a safe level of vaccination in case of a resurgence of the virus. Such resurgence cannot be ruled out as the situation in China and other countries show. There are reports about the discovery of a new Omicron variant. The alert against COVID should not be dropped now. The vaccination programme should be revived, filling the gaps and offering a fourth dose to those who need it. Companies that have stopped vaccine production should be incentivised to restart it. There should be no complacency because the situation is still not completely normal. — In Deccan Herald

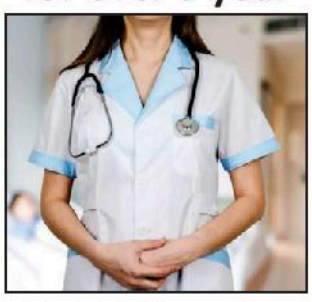
This electric truck needs almost no recharging

Zürich: The world's biggest electric vehicle is a giant dump truck that relies almost exclusively on energy produced by its own breaking system, requiring only minimal recharging.

Called the 'eDumper', the electric vehicle is actually a converted Komatsu 605-7 HD dump truck the diesel engine of which was replaced with an electric motor and a giant battery. It was a joint venture between Swiss company E-Mining, Empa, the University of Bern and NTB Interstaatlicke Hochschule fur Technik Buchs. It was unveiled in 2018 when it performed its "maiden voyage" at a quarry of Vigier Ciment in the Swiss Canton of Berne.

When descending fully loaded, the eDumper generates energy via its break disks and stores it in its giant battery instead of releasing it into the environment. The bigger the weight, the higher the break energy generated and at its maximum 123 tons, it can generate enough energy to power itself back up the quarry slope.

20-year-old poses as doctor for over a year



Istanbul: A 20-year-old woman in Turkey has been arrested after it was revealed that she worked as a doctor in a public hospital, despite having never studied medicine.

Ayşe Özkiraz's family had always wanted her to become a doctor, so after graduating high school she took the medical school exam but failed. But she didn't want to let her folks down, so instead of admitting her failure, she told them that she had gotten into the prestigious Capa Medical University and was studying to become a doctor.

Somehow, the 20-year-old managed to pose as a doctor. Eventually, doctors became suspicious and called the Police.

It's BJP Vs BJP in Mysuru as MP, MLC squabble in full public view

In November 2019, Adagooru H. Vishwanath filed nomination for the Hunsur by-elections as a BJP candidate after quitting the State JD(S) Chief's post. He was earlier in Congress and after he joined BJP, he had friends including Chamarajanagar MP V. Sreenivasa Prasad. But eventually, Vishwanath lost the election and later out of political compulsions, the BJP made him an MLC but the bitterness continued to linger. Much water has flown under the bridge and Vishwanath and Sreenivasa Prasad are now washing dirty linen in public. The war of words has only intensified and both the leaders are becoming fodder for hot political discussion at a time when parties are getting ready to face elections in just a few months.

Sreenivasa Prasad is king of defection: Vishwanath

'He wants a Cabinet berth for his son-in-law Nanjangud MLA B. Harshavardhan'

Mysuru, Dec. 17 (RKB&DM)-Terming Chamarajanagar BJP MP V. Sreenivasa Prasad as the 'king of political nomads,' BJP MLC A.H. Vishwanath, who is at loggerheads with the BJP, wanted to know how many parties Prasad has changed in his over four-decade-old political career.

Addressing a press meet at Pathrakartara Bhavan here on Thursday, Vishwanath, reacting to Prasad's comments calling him as a 'political nomad', said that the MP was making selfish comments while ignoring their long-standing friendship.

Reminding Prasad that as a friend, it was he who first asked him to join the BJP, Vishwanath claimed that Prasad who began his political career from S. Nijalingappa's Congress, later changed parties joining Janata Party, Congress, Samata Party of George Fernandes, JD(U), JD(S), before returning back to his parent party (Congress) ahead of 2013 Assembly polls.

MLC A.H. Vishwanath addressing a press meet on Thursday.

After being a Minister in the Siddharamaiah headed Congress Government, Prasad again left the Congress to join BJP, he said wondering how Prasad, who has such a long history of political migration, can now call him (Vishwanath) a nomad.

Questioning the rationale behind Prasad's sudden outbursts, Vishwanath reiterated that it was Prasad who coaxed him to quit the JD(S) and join the BJP over three years ago, when the JD(S)-Congress coalition Government fell apart and the BJP Government came to power. He was deeply pained by Prasad's comments on him, he added.

Asserting that Prasad was making such comments in order to please the BJP high command and get a Cabinet berth for his (Prasad) son-in-law (Nanjangud MLA B. Harshavardhan), Vishwanath maintained that there was nothing wrong in his recent meeting with top Congress leader and AICC President Mallikarjun Kharge.

Referring to rumours on his quitting the BJP, the MLC shot back saying he has never said he would leave BJP and join the Congress. Defending his meeting with Kharge as he was a senior and respected leader, he said that he would inform the media if he were to quit the BJP.

Vishwanath further alleged that State BJP Vice-President B.Y. Vijayendra had offered him money to cross over from the JD(S) to BJP and thus help the BJP to form Government. Pointing out that he has mentioned this in his upcoming book 'Bombay Days', he said that the book will be released shortly.

Hunsur by-poll: Vishwanath spent just Rs. 5 crore

'Out of Rs. 15 crore BJP had given him to contest election, he pocketed Rs. 10 crore'

Mysuru, Dec. 17 (MTY&DM)-Reacting to MLC A.H. Vishwanath calling him 'king of political nomads,' MP V. Sreenivasa Prasad said he was the 'king of self-respect'.

Addressing a press meet at a private hotel on Friday, Prasad said that he had joined parties only by invitation and not through application, unlike Vishwanath who had knocked on the doors of political parties seeking entry.

"Vishwanath joined BJP from JD(S) and though intelligence reports and political analysts predicted that he would lose the Hunsur by-poll, he went ahead and contested. Even BJP urged him not to contest as he had poor chances and assured of making him an MLC and then a Minister. Vishwanath was hell-bent on contesting and took Rs. 15 crore from the party. But he spent only Rs. 5 crore and pocketed the rest," Prasad alleged.

MP V. Sreenivasa Prasad addressing a press meet on Friday.

"As a Youth Congress President decades ago, I have helped leaders such as D.K. Shivakumar, Vishwanath, Mallikarjun Kharge and Ramanath Rai. I gave political rebirth to Vishwanath by making efforts to get the Congress party ticket, which he was denied. I played a crucial role in Vishwanath joining the Moily Cabinet," he said.

Reiterating that he had helped Vishwanath whenever he faced a political crisis, Prasad said he should be indebted to him. "I had called Vishwanath as a political nomad in the backdrop of him meeting leaders of other political parties while being a nominated BJP MLC," he clarified.

"My entry into politics was by accident when I was forced to contest from K.R. Assembly segment as an independent in 1974. I have come up in politics from grassroots level after being engaged in the 'Boosa Movement' of Dalit leader B. Basavalingappa. I was forced to change political parties as major parties split over the years to form smaller and compact outfits. It is my political journey. I am not a party-hopper like Vishwanath, who changed parties and whenever he changed, it was to meet his own selfish ends," he said.

"Vishwanath is never grateful nor indebted to any leaders who had helped him during crisis. He lashes out at his own friends who have saved his skin. He speaks against any party that welcomes him with open arms. He bites too," Prasad said in a bitter tone.

Prioritise road repair works

Sir,

Every other road across Mysuru city needs repair and tarring. Soon after being elected, the present Mayor had said that his first priority was roads and making it motorable.

Later rains were a ruse and now planning the Peripheral Ring Road is laughable. All the roads need asphalting since nothing was done for the last two years due to the pandemic.

Dasara has come and gone but nothing has been done for our roads that are full of potholes and craters. Do we want Mysuru to be another Bengaluru?

Kuvempunagar and all the areas around it are in a pitiable condition and elected representatives are missing from action.

Prioritise what is needed as it is our (tax-payers) money they are spending. We need good roads and lights on the Ring Road (which missing from Dattagalli onwards).

Elections are round the corner and when netas come asking for votes we expect a report card of what they have done to improve the conditions most important to people.

Clogged Judiciary

I boarded a connecting flight from Kolkata to Bengaluru. My co-passenger, a chatty elderly gentleman, said he had been visiting Bengaluru for 19 years, not because he loved the city but because of a land dispute case!

As we parted ways at the airport, I wished him luck with his case and hoped his next visit to Bengaluru would be to enjoy the city rather than running around the High Court premises.

But as I sat and opened the day's newspaper, my heart sank. I felt terrible for the old man.

The front-page headline read: Number of cases pending in Courts to hit 5 crore! If the elderly gentleman had seen this, he would have gone straight to the hospital instead of the High Court.

But it is India's judiciary that needs immediate hospitalisation else we are heading for chaos.

Addressing an event at the Delhi High Court, Law Minister Kiren Rijiju said the number of pending cases is inching towards the five-crore mark and then rued that the Government had limited powers to appoint Judges.

Ever since the Supreme Court shot down the Government's suggestion of creating a National Judicial Appointments Commission (NJAC) to replace the Collegium appointment system, the Government and the judiciary have been at loggerheads.

In 2016, the then CJI Justice Thakur shed tears at an event attended by PM Modi, asking why the Government is not approving the Judges' list sent by the Collegium. Things have improved since then with the appointment of 11 Judges to the Apex Court and the appointment of 233 Judges to the High Courts. But there is a long way to go.

The Department of Justice reported that the 25 High Courts in India have a sanctioned strength of 1,104 Judges. But there are 387 vacancies with a working strength of 717, as of April 2022. A few days ago, the Law Minister said the working strength was now 777. India currently has 59 lakh cases pending in High Courts, which translates to about 7,593 cases per Judge!

In 2016, India Today magazine published a report on how long cases are heard in State High Courts. In our State, it reported that if you filed a case in the Karnataka High Court today, you could expect it to be in the Court until the beginning of 2025.

During this time, one will go to Court about 12-13 times, as the average time between hearings in the Karnataka High Court is 78 days. If you are lucky, you get four hearings a year and each hearing will last just 6 minutes!

Yes, the report says some Courts have a very short 'hearing time.' In Patna, a Judge hears a case for only 2 minutes! One wonders if justice truly is delivered when you hear the case for just 2 minutes.

This lack of Court time and corruption in the judicial system has also today led the judiciary to be viewed not only as a justice mechanism but also as an 'injustice delivery mechanism'.

Today since Courts take so long, people use the threat of filing a case to delay justice. The other issue is accountability. While the Lower Court Judges can be punished, the Judges of Superior Courts can be removed only if two-thirds of the MPs want to impeach a particular Judge.

This is the same number needed to amend the Constitution! So, these Superior Court Judges have been attested to almost the same importance as our Constitution!

Then there is the ever-exploited PIL — Public Interest Litigation. Judges must be better at rejecting frivolous PILs like silly obscenity cases against film stars and cases regarding the colour of their bikinis insulting religion. More importantly, the Judge who accepts such cases should be dismissed as it indicates their ability to judge is flawed.

But the biggest problem is Government Departments. Central and State Governments are the biggest litigants in our High Courts and the Supreme Court. Approximately 46 percent of pending cases before the Courts pertain to the Government.

The 230th Law Commission report on reforms in the judiciary (2009) stated that the responsibility of unclogging the judiciary was with the Central and State Governments since they are the biggest litigants in the Courts.

The report noted that Governments are just approaching the Courts to pass the buck. But the truth is they are buying time. When was the last time we heard the Mysuru City Corporation or Mysuru Urban Development Authority win a case in our city?

They file cases knowing well they will lose, but they file a case to harass, a Court case means time to negotiate. Once a deal is struck, the Department either weakens a case or drops the case all together. It's a racket.

For now, while the Law Minister rues the lack of Judges and the inability of the Government to appoint Judges, he must first address this State-sponsored harassment via litigation propagated by Government Departments.

Two rowdy-sheeters banished from Mysuru

Mysuru, Dec. 17 (RK&KS)- Close on the heels of a raid on the houses of over 37 most active rowdies out of the total 972 rowdy-sheeters in the city and their parade at Hebbal Police Station based on the orders from City Police Commissioner B. Ramesh, two rowdy-sheeters have been banished from Mysuru limits.

During the parade, the Commissioner had warned rowdy-sheeters to mend their ways and not to indulge in any criminal activities. The banishment order was issued by DCP (Law and Order) Pradeep Gunti. While Manu alias 'RX' Manu, against whom a rowdy sheet has been opened in the Narasimharaja Police Station, has been externed to Mandya district for three months, Akmal Pasha, who is a rowdy-sheeter in Udayagiri Police Station, has been banished to Ramanagara district for six months.

Manu, a resident of HUDCO Layout in Bannimantap, is active in rowdy activities and has various cases including attempt to murder and assault registered against him. He had 10 cases, including an attempt to murder and extortion, registered against him in Lakshmipuram, Lashkar, Jayalakshmipuram, Vijayanagar and Mandi Police Stations.

He had come out on conditional bail but was trying to indulge in illegal activities, including threatening witnesses in his cases and creating an atmosphere of fear among the residents.

Akmal Pasha is a resident of Ghousia Nagar and nine cases including an attempt to murder, threatening to kill and robbery, had been registered against him in Udayagiri, Devaraja and Lashkar Police Stations. After his release on conditional bail, Pasha allegedly continued his illegal activities and threatened witnesses in cases registered against him.

3 lose money in online fraud

Mysuru, Dec. 17- In the latest incident of online fraud in the city, three persons have together lost Rs. 76,699 to online fraudsters in three separate incidents reported from different parts of the city.

In the first incident, K.B. Salim Mallik, 30, a resident of Veene Seshanna Road lost Rs. 26,999 to an online vehicle buying and selling fraud. Salim, who wanted to buy a motorbike, saw an advertisement in OLX online trading and called two numbers 9432519517 and 9395238768, when the person at the other end replied that he was an Army man and wanted to sell his bike. The man, later asked Salim to WhatsApp his Aadhaar card details and a photograph, which he did. He also got Rs. 26,999 transferred to his name. But subsequent calls to the said mobile phone numbers went without replies. Salim, who felt cheated, lodged a complaint at CEN Police Station.

In the second incident, an elderly person B. Mohan Raj, 68, lost Rs. 30,700 to an online money doubling fraud. Mohan Raj, a resident of Gangothri Apartments in V.V. Mohalla, saw an online advertisement in which a marketing company assured doubling of investment.

Responding to the advertisement, Mohan Raj invested small sums of money in the advertised marketing company and also got returns a few times. Getting confident, Mohan Raj invested Rs. 30,700. But in this case, he never got his money back.

In the third incident, B. Vehicle checks to ensure safety

"Soon after I took over as City Police Commissioner, I found rampant helmetless riding, triple-riding and many such other traffic violations. I wanted to enforce the rules making the public follow road discipline. In the meantime, the cooker bomb blast incident happened in Mangaluru and it was established that the accused Mohammad Shariq was a resident of Mysuru. All these factors made me take a decision on checking drives," the Police Commissioner said.

"Security measures have been heightened following the cooker bomb blast case and patrolling has been intensified. We are carrying out vehicle checks at more than 20 points daily and most of these points are on busy roads and junctions," he added.

Maintaining that the checking drive is a joint operation of the Traffic and Civil Police, he said that while Traffic Police check vehicles for traffic violations and documents, the Civil Police scan the vehicles to ascertain if lethal weapons and any other unlawful materials are being transported.

People have to cooperate

Admitting that the public may have been inconvenienced, he said that the public must cooperate with the Police in checking unlawful activities and crimes. "Widespread and regular vehicle checking will hugely help prevent crimes such as chain-snatching, robbery, looting, etc. The public must also bear in mind what would be the fate of the families of accident victims, who lose their lives or get permanently maimed due to accidents caused by traffic violations," he noted.

The Commissioner further said that patrolling will be intensified in secluded and dark areas, from 6 pm to 10 pm in order to instil confidence among the public.

"Our personnel have been asked to place barricades during checking drives for a smooth operation. Remember, collection of fines is not the sole aim of such drives. We want to ensure safety, create a road sense and prevent crimes. I also urge the public to send videos in case any Policeman demands bribes or resorts to harassment. There will be no compromise on taking strict action against errant cops," he added.

Rowdies to be dealt with hard

The Police Commissioner issued a stern warning to the rowdies that serious action would be taken against them if they were found to be indulging in any acts of rowdyism or illegal activities. He said cases would be booked under the Arms Act against the rowdy elements in whose houses the weapons were found.

"I want to reiterate that the Police will mount close surveillance on the rowdy elements and will take action if any of them were found indulging in illegal activities such as running unauthorised clubs, collecting exorbitant rate of interest, extortion, gambling, prostitution or dealing in narcotics," he added.

How to make Hindu religion a practising religion across different strata of our society

Swami Muktidanandaji, President of Sri Ramakrishna Ashram, Mysuru, has written an interesting book, directed at all Hindus titled 'A Call For Progressive Spiritual Hinduism — The Vivekananda Way'.

The book deals with many aspects of Hinduism, the basic ideology of which is referred as 'Sanathana Dharma' (Eternal Truth), which is also called Hindu Dharma. It is a non-dogmatic and non-fanatic religion unlike other faiths, which is why it has withstood the harsh treatment of the followers of Hindu religion by foreign invaders with their own religions.

However, with the changing times, it is felt that Hinduism is still under attack. Probably that is the reason why Swami Muktidanandaji has written this book as a prescription to remedy this problem. It is a wakeup call to all Hindus, who are practising Hindus and non-practising Hindus.

The book reflects on sociological, demographical and educational aspects of Hinduism in the current social environment.

The author says it is an attempt to evolve progressive measures for solving the problems faced by Hindus in the contemporary India. Hindu temples have always been centres of service to the country and dissemination of spiritual knowledge. Therefore, we must try to make temple the centre for religious practices bringing them closer to the people.

The poor Hindus of rural India were always uppermost in the mind of Swami Vivekananda. That was the reason why he spoke of the twin ideals of Jagat Hita (well-being of the world) and Atma Moksha (self realisation of an individual). He also emphasised on family life and family values for spiritual realisation and material welfare of poor Hindus. Swami Vivekananda had criticised the system of education where noble ideas of Hinduism are derided.

There are about 17 chapters in the book. One that might be useful to lay followers of Hinduism is chapter 12 where guidelines are given by way of maxims for the regeneration of Hinduism, like for example, Know your religion; Practice your religion; Believe in your religion; Teach your religion; Have a casteless approach to your religion; Work for your religion etc.

The book running to 112 pages is a good compendium to understand Hinduism as envisioned by Swami Vivekananda and explained by Swami Muktidanandaji. At Rs. 75, it is a worth edition to one's collection of books.

The book is available at the Ashram book stall which is open from 9 am to 12 noon (except Mondays) and from 4 pm to 6.30 pm. On Saturday and Sunday, the book stall is open from 9 am to 12 noon and 4 pm to 7.30 pm.

Intimidating KSRTC officers with machete

Couple arrested from a hideout in Virajpet

Police Commissioner directs opening of rowdy sheet against the accused

City Police Commissioner Ramesh Banoth, flanked by DCP (L&O) Pradeep Gunti and Devaraja ACP M.N. Shashidhar, addressing a press conference at his office in city yesterday. Pic. right: File photo of the accused woman brandishing a machete and threatening KSRTC officials at Sathagalli KSRTC Bus Depot last Saturday.

Mysuru, Dec. 17 (SBD&BCT)- The woman, who allegedly brandished a machete and threatened KSRTC officials who were implementing a Court order regarding a building lease agreement at Sathagalli KSRTC Bus Depot last Saturday in full public view, has been arrested along with her husband. According to the complaint, the woman's husband too allegedly abused the officials and intimidated them.

The couple, Shafiq Ahmed and his wife Syeda Unnisa, residents of Bannimantap 'C' Layout, was arrested yesterday morning at 3 am while they were hiding in a village near Virajpet in Kodagu district. City Police Commissioner Ramesh Banoth has ordered his personnel to open a rowdy sheet against the husband and wife and deal with them as per law.

Addressing a press conference at his office yesterday, the Police Commissioner, accompanied by DCP (Law and Order) Pradeep Gunti and Devaraja ACP M.N. Shashidhar, said that the couple, especially the woman, terrified the KSRTC officers and public by brandishing the machete.

The couple not only intimidated the duty-bound officers but also warned them of dire consequences. "This kind of rowdy behaviour is unacceptable and will not be tolerated. We want to send this message to the public and a rowdy sheet will be opened against the couple as a deterrent," Ramesh added.

Huge pending amount

The KSRTC officers had gone to the Sathagalli KSRTC Bus Depot to implement a Court order regarding the commercial complex that was taken on lease by Shafiq Ahmed but had defaulted on licence fee, GST, power bill and the balance that had accumulated up to Rs. 1.89 crore.

Seeing the KSRTC officers including District Transport Officer (DTO) Marigowda, Depot Manager Shankar, Assistant Traffic Manager Kalashree, Assistant Traffic Superintendent Chethan and other staff, Shafiq Ahmed and his wife Syeda Unnisa threatened them and the woman waved the machete at them abusing in filthy language.

After the video of the incident went viral, the Police Commissioner had asked his personnel to book an attempt to murder case under IPC Section 307. "Teams were formed to nab the couple and they were found holed up inside a house near Virajpet. The couple had switched off their mobile phones and had roamed in Hassan, Chikkamagaluru and other places. There are two more women who are accused in the case who helped the couple escape after providing food and shelter. We are on the look-out for them," Ramesh said.

Court battle

"Shafiq Ahmed had leased out the KSRTC commercial complex in 2017 for a 12-year period and had to pay Rs. 48 lakh annually as per the lease agreement. But this person sub-leased the complex to another party and was enjoying the rent, without paying the KSRTC. He had defaulted up to Rs. 1.89 crore and as such, the KSRTC had approached the Court of law but Shafiq Ahmed had got an interim stay. Later, the KSRTC was able to vacate the temporary stay by stating facts to the Court and had come to the commercial complex to implement the Court order," the Police Commissioner explained.

There were no Police personnel present when KSRTC officials were threatened with a lethal weapon. As KSRTC officials and Police wear khaki uniforms, there was confusion among the public and they assumed that Policemen were threatened, he clarified.

Multiple cases

Based on the complaint from DTO Marigowda, the Udayagiri Police had booked cases under IPC Sections 353 (assault or criminal force to deter public servant from discharge of his duty), 504 (intentional insult and provocation), 506 (criminal intimidation), 34 (common intention). Later, attempt to murder case under IPC Section 307 was booked, he said. "We have got the video of the woman brandishing the machete and abusing the officers along with her husband. We will put up the evidence in the Court," he said.

The Commissioner praised Udayagiri Inspector P.K. Raju, Sub-Inspectors Sunil, Raju, Roopesh and staff Siddique Ahmed, Vinod Rathod, Mallikarjun, Nazia Bhanu, Santhosh, Sameer, Shivarajappa, Gopal, Ravikumar and Kumar for arresting the accused.

Farmer arrested for firing at 'Balarama' elephant

Mysuru, Dec. 17 (MTY& Deepu)- A farmer has been arrested by Forest Department officials on charges of firing at and injuring Dasara elephant 'Balarama', who has the record of carrying 'Golden Howdah' during Mysuru Dasara procession for 13 successive years from 1999 to 2011. The arrested has been identified as M.A. Suresh of Alalur in Periyapatna taluk.

Details: Dasara elephant 'Balarama' who was sheltered in Bheemanakatte elephant camp coming under Hunsur Wildlife division, was let out to the adjacent forest to have food at about 9.30 pm on the night of Dec.15. But 30 minutes later, the Forest Department staff heard gun shots and elephant cries (trumpet), following which they went in search of the elephant in the direction from where they heard the sound.

After some time, they found Balarama lying injured on the ground and further search led them to discover a man atop a tree holding a gun, close to the spot. Soon they took the man, who was later identified as Suresh of Alalur village, into their custody.

The Forest Department staff summoned veterinarian Dr. Ramesh to the spot, who removed about 35 cartridges (Cycle Ball type) from the elephant's body and dressed the wounds.

After getting timely treatment, Balarama recovered, following which the pachyderm was brought back to its camp by Mahouts and Kavadis, where it is undergoing continued treatment for gunshot wounds.

Meanwhile, Forest officials said that Suresh had grown paddy and maize in his agricultural field. In order to prevent wild animals venturing his field during night, Suresh, armed with a gun, used to keep a watch, sitting on a small wooden platform placed atop a tree. As Balarama ventured into his field, Suresh believing that a wild elephant had indeed entered, shot at the elephant multiple times, causing many injuries on its body, they pointed out.

They further said that Suresh should have fired shots in the air to scare away the jumbo, instead of firing directly at Balarama, causing injuries to the pachyderm and as such, he has been arrested under Wildlife (Protection) Act.
